

PENN. STATE IS TAKEN INTO CAMP

Spiders Win From Visitors in Slow Contest by Score of 3 to 1.

Richmond College, in a slow and uninteresting game, yesterday defeated Pennsylvania State College, but the result is due more to good luck than to any advantage the locals showed either in fielding or batting. The winning runs were scored in the eighth inning, when Gill and Jenkins scored on Meredith's three-base hit. Until this inning, the game was closely played, and neither side seemed to be able to connect for hits consecutively.

In the seventh inning, the game was delayed while policemen stopped a chicken fight on the side lines; but this excitement served to enliven the spectators, and helped them to endure the nine innings. Jenkins's two-bagger to centre field, a wild pitch by Kepple, and Stary's miff of Meredith's infield fly, gave the Spiders their first run in the fourth inning.

Hartensberger's single in the fifth, an error by Meredith, and Kepple's single, scored the only run for the visitors. Breitenreiter, Stary and Kepple seemed to be able to hit, but other members of their team did not advance them on the bases. Jenkins's one-hand stop of a grounder, in the third inning, was a feature. Gwathmey pitched a good game, and was fairly well supported.

VIRGINIA NO MATCH FOR AMHERST TEAM

Poorest Game Seen on Lambeth Field in Many Years—Three Pitchers Knocked Out of Box—Eight Inning Game.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Charlottesville, Va., March 31.—Virginia gave to-day the poorest exhibition of baseball seen on Lambeth field in years. Amherst, winning hands down, 10 to 0, in an eight-inning contest. The three pitchers sent in by Virginia were treated alike. Grant, a southpaw from the Episcopal High School, was the first victim. Rixey was kept in only one session, being succeeded by Culbertson, who yielded four hits in two innings. The fielding was yellow, there being a total of eleven errors.

Taylor was in the box for Amherst and held Virginia to four hits. In the fifth he retired the side on strikes. He was given excellent support, the work of Penneck at short being sensational. He took in everything that came around second. In the fourth he made a brilliant one-hand pick up of Fletcher's liner, and retired the runner at first. McClure and Kane led with the stick.

For Virginia, Fitchett and Stanton made splendid catches, after long runs. Carter made a superb stop of Henry's "sizzler" in the eighth. The tabulated score:

TWO MORE PLAYERS REPORT FOR WORK

All of Shoemakers' Squad Will Soon Be on Hand for Season.

Lynchburg, Va., March 31.—Two more Shoemakers joined the camp since yesterday morning, the new players being Pitcher Gehring and First Baseman Woolams. This makes nine men in camp now, the men in addition to Gehring and Woolams being: Jackson, Evans, Smith, Zimmerman, Lucia, Brandon and Edmonds.

The only men for the pitching and catching department who have not reported are Catcher Rowe and Pitcher Levy. Rowe has been unimpaired in Raleigh, N. C., and Levy was expected to arrive yesterday from his home at Bayonne, N. J., where he has been wintering. Nothing has been heard from either of these men, but they will be along shortly.

By to-morrow or the next day or two the other men will be showing up. These will include Arthur Smith, Sharp, the second baseman; Zeigler, King, and two trials in the infield whose names are Pindal and Behn. Bart Woolams, the big first baseman secured in Denver, Col., reached the city yesterday afternoon, but he had too much of the roll of the train in his head for him to get into the uniform during the afternoon.

Woolams is a strapping big fellow, and will make a fine appearance in a uniform. He has never played much professional ball, but he could hardly have been given better recommendations than those upon which he was signed.

Last season he played with a strong

TRAVIS WINS MATCH IN BRILLIANT STYLE

Close and Exciting Contest, Fownes Not Losing Out Until 21st Green—Many Other Hard-Fought Battles During Day.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Pinehurst, N. C., March 31.—Walter J. Travis, of Garden City, and W. C. Fownes, Jr., of Oakmont, friendly rivals in many hard-fought battles, met again in this afternoon's second round of the tenth annual United North and South amateur golf championship, and as usual, the battle waged fast and furious, and not until the twenty-first green was reached did the smoke clear, and the Garden City expert claim the brilliant victory. It was a case of give and take on the way out, the score being one up in favor of Mr. Travis at the turn. On the tenth he increased the lead to two up, but the score was all even again on the twelfth green.

An alternate win and loss on the thirteenth and fourteenth, and halves on the fifteenth and sixteenth, kept the big gallery in suspense, a win in two on the short seventeenth, shifting odds in favor of Mr. Travis, only to see the pendulum swing back again, when Mr. Fownes took the eighteenth in four to five. The nineteenth and twentieth holes were halved, in part four, and the gallery waited around the twenty-first tee for the final test. The Pittsburgher's drive was slightly pulled, and his iron missed the green. Travis's drive was a trifle short, but straight down the course, and his iron made the green. Fownes's approach ran past the hole, and Travis played safe.

Fownes made a try for a half, missed, and Travis went down in four. Fownes was outdriving his opponent at all stages of the contest, but Travis' iron was deadly, and his putting "uncanny."

The cards:

Travis	5	4	4	4	5	3	6	3	5	39
Fownes	5	4	5	6	4	1	5	4	4	41
Travis	5	4	5	4	3	4	2	5	35	37
Fownes	3	4	5	4	3	4	3	4	35	36
Travis	4	4	4	4	4	4	4	4	36	38

Other Brilliant Contests. In addition to the Travis-Fownes match, many other brilliant contests claimed attention.

Victor Fairbanks, the Colorado champion, and John Sweeney, of the Detroit Country Club, fought it out to the nineteenth hole, where Fairbanks won. At the turn the Detroit player was five down, but he won every hole from the twelfth to the seventeenth to even the score, and halved the eighteenth. Colonel J. E. Smith, of the Wilmington Country Club, won an extra hole match from W. T. West, of Philadelphia, in which the players were never more than a hole apart, and the majority halves.

In other divisions, beside the championship play, was equally fast, with a twenty-hole match between E. M. Hunt, of Gloucester, and W. V. Phillips, of Lansdowne, and a nineteen-hole between Dr. H. A. Roark, of Braeburn, and R. W. Wisar, of Lansdowne. In the third a nineteen-hole match between J. M. Hodson, of Ardley, and C. D. Ward, of Colonel in the fourth, and similar contests between W. T. Stall, of Breckton, and C. B. Johnson, of Buffalo, and Henry C. Fownes II, of Pittsburgh (who is but thirteen years of age), and Robert Foote, of New Haven, in the fifth.

Altho Lard, of Chevy Chase, twice winner of the championship, and C. B. Fownes, of Oakmont, played a fast match. The Chevy Chase player was two down at the turn, but he evened the match on the fifteenth. The sixteenth went to Fownes, the seventeenth to Lard, and a twelve-hole "English" put, round a styrie, decided it in Mr. Lard's favor on the home green.

Summary of Day's Play. A summary of to-day's match play rounds follow:
